

Focus of private equity on technology and health care

Two thirds of the respondents predict a stagnant private equity investment volume for 2019

The two most important industries for private equity investors are technology and health care

More than 40% expect the amount of buyout transactions to grow the strongest

More than 50% of the respondents blame unqualified managers for the failure of private equity investments